Getting Others to Vote

Long ago, citizens of our country worked hard to get their own government and freedoms. Today, it is important to use our freedom to vote by taking part in elections.

When you turn 18 years old, you will be able to vote in elections. However, many people do not take the time to vote. A group called “Kids Voting USA” wants more adults to vote. They help schools teach children about citizenship and voting. They believe this will lead to more adults voting in the future. They also think it is important for families to talk about citizenship and elections.

Long ago, our country’s leaders stood up for what they believed in. Today, people can help make changes in our country by voting.
